A woman stands in the center of a narrow, red-walled corridor. She is wearing a traditional Indian outfit consisting of a dark blue sari with a green floral pattern and a bright yellow-green dupatta with a gold border. She is also wearing gold jewelry, including a necklace and earrings. The corridor has red walls with a series of small, rectangular openings. Above the woman, there is a small archway with a red rose and a gold deer head decoration. The floor is made of stone tiles.
